

CHILD BEATER COLLAPSES ON HER WAY TO THE TOMBS

Mrs. Evers's Sentence Is Again
Postponed Pending Inquiry
About Alice Randolph.

The sentence of Mrs. E. Virginia Evers for beating the child called Alice Randolph was postponed today by the Justice of the Court of Special Sessions until next Tuesday. Mrs. Evers was brought into the cage which extends into the court room from the adjoining pen, which connects with the bridge of signs. Her companion in the cage was an unconscious woman who would not be stifled in her attempts to sing ribald songs.

Mrs. Evers was not led to the bar, but counsel and Assistant District Attorney Wilmett arranged for the postponement of the sentence. Mr. Wilmett stated that the District Attorney had not finished his investigation into the case of Alice Randolph. Mr. Evers was brought into the cage which extends into the court room from the adjoining pen, which connects with the bridge of signs. Her companion in the cage was an unconscious woman who would not be stifled in her attempts to sing ribald songs.

When brought into the wire cage Mrs. Evers wore a close mesh blue automobile veil that completely hid her face. She was weeping and collapsed when taken back over the bridge of signs. "Oh, the Tombs is the most horrible place," she said while waiting in court. "I haven't slept an hour since they took me there. If it were not for the visits of a kindly clergyman I could not have borne it."

SHERIFF ARRESTS MAN BANDITS SAY HELPED TO SLAY

Brooklyn Prisoner Named in Confession Made by One of Five Condemned Men.

Salvador D'Amor, an Italian laborer, twenty-eight years old, was arrested today at No. 11 Cook street, Williamsburg, on the charge of being implicated in the murder of Mrs. Mary Hall at Croton Lake, for which five men are now under sentence of death. The information which led to the arrest of D'Amor was given by one of the condemned men.

Just what part the man had played in the murder was not stated by Sheriff J. J. Hartnett of Westchester County, who today led a raid that resulted in the capture of the man. The prisoner was hurried to White Plains for a hearing.

Sheriff Hartnett, with Deputies John Giamora and Michael Berwabin, came to Williamsburg early today. They were followed by Detectives Drum, Doyle, Dowling and Dettile from the State street police station. The party went to No. 11 Cook street, which is a tenement house holding many families. They had little trouble in getting their man.

D'Amor protested that he had nothing whatever to do with the murder and knew nothing of it. The Sheriff did not go into the details of his case with the police. He merely told them that in a confession made by one of the men now under sentence of death, D'Amor had been named as having had connection with the crime.

The police have been looking for D'Amor for more than a week. The Westchester Sheriff has also had a detailed sampling in Williamsburg for the street. A week ago D'Amor was located in the Hamburg avenue Italian settlement, but just as the detectives and deputies were about to arrest him he made his escape.

SCIENCE VICTIM'S SISTER SICK AND MOTHER TREATED

Another daughter—Josephine, nine years old—of Mrs. Margaret Mosbach, No. 245 Halsey street, the Bronx, who is under $2,500 bail pending an investigation into the death of her six-year-old daughter, Kathryn, is ill from diphtheria, but it is said to-day she will recover, a doctor having been called in by the mother.

Kathryn died Thanksgiving night from diphtheria, after being treated by a Christian Science healer. When Josephine became ill Mrs. Mosbach called a doctor and anti-toxin was administered to her, to the mother, the latter's father, brother and sister, and to another daughter, Martha, but only as a precautionary measure, none of them being ill except Josephine. The Board of Health has quarantined the house.

Little Josephine was taken ill on Tuesday with fever and a sore throat. Her symptoms were so like those of her little sister that the mother decided to call in a practicing physician at once. Dr. C. G. Webster of No. 371 Bedford Park Boulevard diagnosed the girl's illness as diphtheria and notified the Board of Health. The physician found that the child was not in a serious condition and expressed the belief that she would recover.

The inquest into the death of Kathryn was to have been held in the office of Coroner Slaughter on Monday, but because of the illness of Josephine it will have to be postponed indefinitely.

Christmas Jewelry you will be as proud to give as any friend or relative on your list will be glad to get is waiting for you at Lamberts. We do not mean jewelry so costly as to make deep holes in your Christmas-gift fund. We offer you BEAUTIFULLY DESIGNED, SUBSTANTIALLY MADE DIAMOND AND GOLD JEWELRY, AND DIAMOND AND GOLD RINGS, all of guaranteed quality, at a large saving on every purchase.

When we say low prices we mean not merely that we sell high-class jewelry for less than you would be asked to pay in other stores, but also that

We sell jewelry of guaranteed quality for less than you would pay elsewhere for Christmas presents not to be compared in beauty, durability, quality, practical usefulness and lasting value with Lambert Jewelry.

While other gifts become less valuable with time, gold is always gold and the diamond market is always rising.

But, after all, the real value of any Christmas gift is in the sentiment back of it, not in the price of it. Visitors at Lamberts find ample assortments of small gifts, some costing even less than a dollar, ALL GUARANTEED, and every one a worthy expression of Christmas sentiment.

Full advantage is taken of the Lay-away privilege—and space in the steel vaults will be at a premium before long. HUNDREDS OF GIFTS OF CHRISTMAS JEWELRY HAVE BEEN CHOSEN, ENGRAVED AND LAID AWAY, to be paid for when called for. Are your gifts among them?

The pictures below fall far short of justice to our Christmas Jewelry, since the lustre of gold and the fine sparkle of diamonds cannot be reproduced by printers' ink. Please make allowances for that.

Now, as in other Christmas seasons, we earnestly advise EARLY BUYING in the interest of the customer's own comfort and satisfaction.

Beauty of Gold—Strength of Steel

The New Way To Drink Whiskey

Get it From The Bottle That Can't be Refilled

Step into the next saloon you meet and ask the man for a little old "Wilson" from the new bottle.

Pour yourself a drink—and then think this over.

Here's a whiskey that is just as pure as can be—put into a bottle that nothing can be put back into—so it must be always the same, always good.

A guaranteed drink, in fact. And that's more than the highest priced whiskey in the world can be if it comes in the ordinary bottle.
